Nexeo Solutions Expands Product Portfolio in the Medical and Diagnostic Industries With Acrylic-Based Products From Evonik Industries

THE WOODLANDS, Texas, Oct. 24, 2018 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- Evonik Cyro LLC ("Evonik") has selected Nexeo Solutions (NASDAQ:NXEO) to distribute Evonik's high performance acrylic-based polymer products CYROLITE[®], XT[®] POLYMER, CYREX[®], CYROLITE[®] MD and Vu-Stat[®] for the medical device and diagnostic industries in the United States, Canada, Puerto Rico, and Latin America effective November 1, 2018.

Evonik's Performance Materials Segment is a leading provider of polymer materials with more than forty years of experience offering customized products for the medical sector. Evonik provides advanced medical acrylics designed for diagnostic applications requiring exceptional light transmittance and optical clarity, as well as infusion therapy and blood handling applications that must deliver outstanding chemical and lipid resistance, such as IV accessories, blood/plasma separators and more.

"Expanding our Healthcare portfolio with performance materials from Evonik is a great addition to our offering of specialty plastics for the medical industry," said Shawn Williams, Executive Vice President of Plastics at Nexeo Solutions. "Evonik is known as a trendsetter across multiple industries for their trusted collaboration helping shape customers' businesses. Our customers will benefit from Evonik's commitment to innovation and quality, coupled with our technical expertise and industry-leading supply chain network to deliver exceptional acrylic-based products that meet demanding requirements," Williams added.
